“Throughout this guide you’ll see comments from parents of current students and recent graduates. Feedback, involvement, and support from parents have helped us refine many programs for Tulane students and parents. We welcome your involvement, too! See page 10 for a list of opportunities.”

PENNY WYATT, DIRECTOR OF PARENT PROGRAMS & EXTERNAL RELATIONS
Dear Tulane Parents,

As parents of Tulane University students, you already know Tulane attracts adventurers and explorers, people with tremendous creativity and a drive to engage with the world. We are delighted to have you join us and eager to help your students develop their skills, talents, and leadership to the fullest. This is more than a university community. It’s a warm, colorful, quirky family. And I want to welcome you with open arms.

Tulane is one of the most national universities, where your students will meet peers from every corner of America with an incredible range of backgrounds and perspectives. It’s one of the most intellectually vibrant universities, where they will study subjects deeply and study the connections between subjects. And it’s a place for personal growth, where we link living, learning, extracurricular experiences, and reaching out into the community to serve others.

You bring a unique perspective as parents. Because your children are students, you get a close view of university life. But because you likely are a step removed from student life yourself, you bring the wisdom of an educated observer. I encourage you to get involved and share your feedback with us.

We have many resources to help students thrive at Tulane. This guide outlines services to support your student academically and personally. It explains opportunities to get involved across our campuses. Keep the guide and refer to it often.

I am honored you have chosen to join us at Tulane.

Warmly,

Michael A. Fitts
President

Dear Tulane Parents,

On behalf of the Division of Student Affairs I would like to welcome you to our university community. We consider parents as partners with us in inspiring students’ success, so we are eager to meet you and embark together on this journey that will have a profound impact on your student.

We are excited about the new students entering Tulane this fall semester and want to help make their transition—and yours—as smooth as possible. To that end, we have coordinated many resources, including this guide, to help you and your student navigate this new experience. Keep and use this guide to learn about the myriad programs and services dedicated to supporting your student in their academic and personal growth. From tutoring to general counseling to study abroad or student employment, there are helpful staff and multifaceted resources intentionally focused to help your student succeed.

I am thankful for the trust you place in Tulane University to educate and inspire your children to think, to learn, and to act and lead with integrity and wisdom.

Welcome!

Sincerely,

J. Davidson “Dusty” Porter

PARENT PROGRAMS is the office dedicated to assisting the families of our students. We aim to guide you through the high school to college transition, orient you to our campus community, and help you stay connected to the university during your student’s time at the university. At Tulane, we believe that you are valuable partners in the work we do to inspire the success of our students. This means that we will commit to providing you with valuable, timely information both online and in person. We will help you understand and navigate institutional resources. We will provide suggestions and guidance regarding the transition to life in college or critical issues impacting your student’s experience. College offers abundant opportunities for learning and growth, academically and personally, inside and outside the classroom. To help your student learn to manage their academic and personal success, we recommend that you coach and encourage your student to utilize the university’s information and resources to overcome challenges and maximize opportunities. Working together we can provide a dynamic support system for your Tulane student.

We hope you can participate in the programs and events we hold on campus. You are an important part of our university community and we want you to feel comfortable here. We know that it can be challenging for parents and families to navigate university systems to assist and coach their college student from afar, so we offer help through a variety of communication mechanisms and web-based resources. If you ever need assistance beyond the information outlined here or on our parents.tulane.edu website, please contact Penny Wyatt, Director of Parent Programs and External Relations at 1-877-TUP-WAVE (1-877-887-9283) or at parents@tulane.edu.

CARYN ZULL, PARENT OF LAURA (SSE ’16), APPRECIATED TULANE’S COMMUNICATION TO PARENTS:

“Over the past four years I have just been floored by the concern the Tulane administration has for parents. Whether that is through webinars, the Tulane New Wave, or messages from Presidents Cowen and Fitts, parents are never forgotten in matters that concern the students.”

PARENT GUIDE

While this guide will be especially helpful as you prepare for your student’s move to campus and go through the first year’s cycle of academic semesters, breaks, and annual procedures, please keep it as a reference for phone numbers, websites, and other information you may need later. This guide describes an array of academic, student life, safety, and administrative resources and services. If you’re not sure which section you need, use the handy index on the back page.

A pdf version of the guide is posted in the Helpful Information section on parents.tulane.edu so you can access anytime, from anywhere!

WEBSITE

You have your own space on the Tulane University website: parents.tulane.edu. You’ll find descriptions of our programs, schedules of events for parents, and an archive of our parent e-newsletters, webinars, and tutorials. Best of all, there is one section titled “Helpful Information” that can serve as your portal to other campus departments. We’ve included links to campus departments and helpful resources parents are likely to need. So if you start at parents.tulane.edu/info you can probably find what you need from there.

Need to find information quickly? Remember, visit parents.tulane.edu/info to find the online Parent Guide and Quick Links to the information parents use most.

E-NEWSLETTERS

Our “Parents as Partners” e-newsletter begins with a series for parents of new students sent on the 1st and 15th of the month from mid-May until August Move-in. Each newsletter will have a short feature introducing a campus resource, quick reminders of upcoming deadlines and planning advice. A convenient list of hyperlinks to key campus departments will be a constant element of each newsletter. After the academic year starts, we send the e-newsletters once a month to parents of all students, so some of the information is a bit broader in scope.

Please note that we initially populate the e-newsletters in May with the parent email addresses students originally include in their Admission applications. After that, the service can be self-managed via a link at Tulane.edu/studentaffairs/orientation/parent/newsletter.cfm. You may subscribe, unsubscribe, or change your email address using that link. Be sure to adjust your spam filters to accept messages from parents@tulane.edu so you don’t miss an issue!

Many parents enjoy subscribing to two other university newsletters, the New Wave, sent daily to students, faculty, staff, and other friends (http://tulane.edu/news/newwave), and The View from Gibson, a weekly message to the Tulane community from President Fitts (http://tulane.edu/administration/president/view/subscribe.cfm).
WEBINARS AND TUTORIALS

The Office of Parent Programs offers informative webinars throughout the year to help you respond to students’ needs, help them prepare for cyclical procedures and deadlines, and take advantage of upcoming opportunities. Participation in the webinars is free, but required advance online registration. The registration links for the webinars are listed on our website at www2.tulane.edu/studentaffairs/parents/communication/webinars.cfm. After registering you’ll receive a confirmation email with login instructions. Each webinar will feature campus staff members who present information on a timely topic and answer questions parent participants can submit electronically. After each webinar, we post a link to the recording in our Webinar Archive so parents who missed the live webinar can access the information from our website later.

On our website we also have online video tutorials on a few topics of interest to parents like Fraternity and Sorority Recruitment and Sexual Assault Prevention Education and Response Resources.

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION

By the time you read this guide, you are either attending New Student Orientation with your student or you are reading it after the event. If you could not attend the presentations in person, this guide will help you catch up.

MOVE-IN WEEKEND

The next phase of new students’ orientation and transition assistance is Move-In and Fall Welcome. It all begins with Move-In Day, scheduled Friday, August 25, 2017. In early August Housing and Residence Life will notify students of the assigned move-in time period for their particular residence hall floors. Plan to move-in, complete errands and help your student get settled before their required meeting that evening. If your schedule permits, stay through Saturday, August 26, so you can see all the pomp and circumstance of the President’s Convocation for New Students, visit the Dean’s Open Houses and mingle with faculty, staff and other parents. Programs for parents end in the late afternoon on Saturday, August 26, so students can attend required educational and transition programs on Saturday night and on Sunday, August 27. Classes begin on Monday, August 28. Fall Welcome special events and activities for first year students continue over the next few weeks to integrate them into campus life. Visit fallwelcome.tulane.edu for a general schedule and descriptions of events. The full Move-In Weekend and Fall Welcome Schedule will be available to view online by August 1 and the Fall Welcome App for Android and iOS devices will be available for download beginning August 15. Pick up a hard copy of the Move-In Weekend Guide at your student’s residence hall on Move-In Day.

FAMILY WEEKEND

Save this date: November 3–5, 2017. Tulane’s Family Weekend is scheduled the same time as Homecoming and Alumni Reunions, which makes for a very special celebration for students, parents, and alumni called Wave ‘17. Many events are free and open to the entire Tulane community.

Students have a regular class day that Friday, so we have receptions and special offerings just for parents. You may join us for breakfast with James MacLaren, Dean of Newcomb-Tulane College; a Town Hall Meeting with Michael Fitts, Tulane University President; and a special event with Dr. James “Dusty” Porter, Vice President for Student Affairs. Midday you can catch up with your student for Family Weekend Jazz Brunch in Bruff Commons dining hall. Friday afternoon there will be a lecture series and author talks featuring Tulane faculty, academic center open houses, and a Study Abroad presentation. Students come out in full force for spirited Homecoming activities after classes late Friday afternoon featuring a pep rally, music, and more. We’ll end the night with our Third Annual Family Weekend A Cappella Concert featuring our five student groups, Green Envy, THEM, TULA (Tulane University Ladies A Cappella), NUBeats, and TUtones.

The highlight of Saturday will be the tailgating and a concert on the LBC quad before the Homecoming football game against the University of Cincinnati Bearcats in Yulman Stadium. On Sunday we keep our formal programming pretty light so you can enjoy exploring campus and the city with your student at your own pace.

The online registration for ticketed events like the football game will open in August. Visit Tulane.edu/studentaffairs/orientation/parent/weekend for detailed schedules, program descriptions and the registration link.

COMMENCEMENT

While you may not need to think about it for a few years, Commencement every May is another big weekend for families. Tulane’s Unified Commencement Ceremony is a one-of-a-kind celebration that combines university and New Orleans traditions to honor our graduating students. If you really like to plan ahead, check out tulane.edu/grads for more information and the Commencement dates for future years. Every spring Tulane Parent Programs offers a webinar on “Commencement Preparation” to help you plan your visit.

“\n
“The programming for parents at New Student Orientation was informative and helpful. Everyone was warm and welcoming and made me feel a part of the Tulane community right away. In addition, I came away with contact numbers from several parents I met over the two days. My son had an equally good experience. I think he was surprised to hear that I had as good a time as he did!”

MINDY BLUM, PARENT OF NOAH (B ’19)
TRAVEL RESOURCES

When you’re planning to visit your student, keep these resources and instructions in mind. You can find links to campus maps and all the suggestions below in the Travel Resources section of parents.tulane.edu.

LODGING

Use our Tulane Travel Portal to find the most advantageous rates at New Orleans hotels, motels, or bed & breakfast inns. The “Visit Tulane” link on the portal opens to show several local and national partners that will assist you in arranging your stay in New Orleans. Those locations in the neighborhoods of Uptown, Carrollton and the Garden District are the closest proximity to campus, however the French Quarter, CBD, and Mid-City neighborhoods offer added culture to your trip as well. The interactive map on the Travel Portal will show you the distance from campus of each hotel.

GROUND TRANSPORTATION

Among the many options at the Louis Armstrong New Orleans International Airport, the Airport Shuttle company offers convenient and economical transportation to and from campus. There is a shuttle stop right on campus at the corner of Willow Street and Janet Yulman Way beside the PJ’s Coffee shop.

Make your reservation using the special link on our website and $2 of every reservation will go to support student events on campus.

For rental cars, please take advantage of Tulane’s corporate discount with Enterprise Rent-a-Car: use Corporate ID #14NO742, Password: TUL.

PARKING

For New Student Orientation and Move-In, a temporary online permit for designated areas will be available from those websites a few weeks prior to the event. For Family Weekend, parking instructions will be included in the online schedule details closer to the event. For other visits during weekdays, you may purchase day use permits from the Parking Services Office on the 1st floor of the Diboll Complex, Building 103 on the campus map. Whatever you do, DON’T park in any spot marked “Reserved” at any time (even weekends, holidays, and university breaks) because you’ll get a ticket and your car could be booted.

THINGS TO DO IN AND AROUND NEW ORLEANS

There is so much to do in our unique wonderful city that the choices can be overwhelming! Use the curated list of New Orleans tours, historic sites, cultural attractions, and recreational activities we’ve used for Tulane students’ social activities, field trips, and programs as a place to start. We also like these comprehensive websites: www.nola.com and www.neworleansonline.com.
Even though your student will become more independent and your role will change from being more of a manager to a supporter, that role is still an important one to play. We welcome your partnership with us in inspiring your student’s success at Tulane. There are many specific ways you can be involved at Tulane, including several you can do in your own hometown.

STAY CONNECTED

There are several ways parents can easily and conveniently stay connected with Tulane electronically. Stay up-to-date on the latest Tulane news by subscribing to the “New Wave” e-newsletter at http://tulane.edu/news/newwave. You’ll enjoy the short articles on everything from students’ involvement in the local community, novel activities in dynamic courses or a faculty member’s noteworthy discoveries. Each week, Tulane President Mike Fitts sends a newsletter to the Tulane community, entitled “The View from Gibson,” that covers important university priorities, news, and events as well as some personal anecdotes and reflections. If you would like to receive these messages, subscribe at http://tulane.edu/administration/president/view/subscribe.cfm. All incoming students’ parents are automatically added to the “Parents as Partners” e-newsletter sent by the Office of Parent Programs. (See page 6 for more details.)

ASSIST WITH CAREER PLANNING

One of the best career resources that we can offer students is access to the vast network of successful Tulane alumni and parents. You can participate in a number of ways, from serving as a mentor to a student interested in your industry, to offering an internship or externship at your company, to participating in one of our career programs on campus or in your city. To find out more, please contact Byron Kantrow, Director, Career Wave Programming, New York Regional Development Office, Undergraduate Employer Relations, bkantrtw@tulane.edu.

ATTEND LOCAL TULANE EVENTS

Since parents are part of the Tulane family, we would love to see you at local events, which range from faculty lectures to crawfish boils! There are more than 60 active Tulane Clubs that span the globe, and each year more than 15,000 Tulanians participate in a wide range of social, service, recreational, and networking events. Find out what’s happening in your city at http://tulane.edu/alumni/club/index.cfm.

HOST TULANE EVENTS IN YOUR HOMETOWN

Throughout the year, we often have many opportunities for hosting events, from small gatherings for new parents or prospective families to larger receptions featuring academic administrators. If you are interested in hosting an event for other Tulane parents in your area, contact George Harley, Executive Director of Development, Undergraduate Programs, gharley@tulane.edu.

RECRUIT PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

The Office of Undergraduate Admission welcomes parents of current and graduated Tulane students to participate in the Alumni and Parent Admission Committee (APAC). If you are interested in receiving information about admission events in your area, please complete the APAC registration form at http://admission.tulane.edu/for-alumni or contact Valerie Calenda, Associate Director of Undergraduate Admission, at vtimmer@tulane.edu or Lindsey Hoyt, Assistant Director of Undergraduate Admission, at lhoiyt@tulane.edu for more information. Once you register, we will reach out to you at the beginning of each semester with more information about events for prospective students scheduled in your area.

SUPPORT THE TULANE FUND

Gifts to the Tulane Fund provide scholarships, public service, faculty support, campus improvements, research, technology, arts and more. The philanthropic support of parents plays a meaningful role in providing your student with a college experience available only at Tulane, only in New Orleans. To make a gift, visit http://tulane.edu/giving or call (800) 933-6886.
OVER THE SUMMER

Over the summer, please encourage your student to:

■ Review the New Student Orientation Guidebook carefully, especially the “Dates and Deadlines” list in the “Resources” section (reprinted here, on page 15). The guidebook also has transition guidance, planning, and preparation information at Tulane.

■ Read all the “Navigator” e-newsletters sent on the 1st and 15th of June–August to stay on track. The Navigators contain notice of upcoming deadlines, descriptions of Fall Welcome programs, and advice on preparing for the move to campus.

■ Monitor their Tulane email account. The university considers email the official way to communicate with students. Students are held responsible for the information, instructions, and requirements communicated via email. Many campus departments will send important information over the summer so students must read everything carefully.

■ Keep up with the New Student Checklist. The checklist here is also printed in the students’ New Student Orientation Guidebook and is available online at http://tulane.edu/studentaffairs/orientation/first-year-resources/first-year-checklist.cfm with embedded hyperlinks to required forms and more helpful details. You’ll also find a link to download a printable pdf of the checklist. Refer to it often as you help your student stay on track with all the planning and preparation tasks.

PREPARING FOR THE MOVE TO CAMPUS

Our best advice is to help your student prioritize and bring only what is essential for move-in. KEEP IN MIND that the average room size in first-year halls is 12 ft x 15 ft for two people. Encourage your student to coordinate with their roommate before you ship or bring duplicate items. Students will receive their residence hall, room number, and roommate assignments in mid- to late-July.

Remember that University furniture cannot be removed from the room. Also, there is no additional storage space outside the student’s room for luggage or seasonal items. One helpful thing about the New Orleans climate: your student likely won’t need to bring heavy, cold weather clothing to campus until after the Winter Break between semesters.

Lighten the load of things you’ll bring or ship to campus and take advantage of these options to get more supplies for your student’s room once you arrive:

Barnes & Noble at Tulane University
Our university bookstore is located on the first floor of the Lavin-Bernick Center. In addition to textbooks, the bookstore carries toiletries, health and beauty products, storage and organization supplies, computer cables, surge protectors, computer accessories, ink and printer supplies, batteries and battery packs, room décor, calendars, and more. Check out http://tulane.bncollege.com for more details.

Trash to Treasure
A student-led waste reduction initiative collects unwanted items during move-out each year, sorts them throughout the summer, and then resells them at move-in. It’s a great place to pick up closet organizers and room décor. The sale will be set up during Move-In Weekend. For updates on sale time and location, follow them on Facebook and Instagram: @tulanetrashottreasure. Added bonus: after the sale the student organization donates all profits and leftover items to local New Orleans charities!

Tulane Shuttles
Our Shuttles and Transportation department will run a special shuttle of our Uptown-Metairie Entertainment Line on Friday, August 25 so you’ll have a convenient way to get from campus to the Clearview Mall that has both Bed, Bath & Beyond and Target. It will run from the Diboll Parking Garage on campus to Clearview Mall approximately every hour between 10:45 a.m. and 5:35 p.m. Keep in mind that this shuttle runs every weekend, so if your student needs to go shopping later, free transportation will be available.

Students found with prohibited items during move-in will be required to dispose of the item and may be subject to disciplinary action through the student conduct process.

SHIPPING ITEMS TO CAMPUS
Since most of our students live several hundred miles from New Orleans, many choose to ship items to campus. Around the first week of August, our Mail Services department will send detailed instructions to students’ home addresses and Tulane email addresses. Students will receive their mailing addresses (mailbox numbers), instructions with a region-specific schedule for shipping items, and mailing labels in the correct format. Shipped items will be consolidated into large trailers which will be stationed in a central location on campus for Move-In Day.
PLANNING ASSISTANCE FOR PARENTS

NAVIGATING THROUGH MOVE-IN DAY

Move-in Day for all first-year students is Friday, August 25, 2017. At Tulane we have teams of people and organized procedures to help make the day go as smoothly as possible.

Our Tulane University Police Department officers and some NOPD officers will direct traffic from the perimeter of campus through the unloading queues and on to the parking locations. ROTC cadets work with Mail Services and help transport students’ items from the shipping trailers and Mailroom to the drop off locations at the residence halls. Upperclass student TU Move Krewe volunteers will help unload cars at the drop off locations and take students’ belongings to their residence hall rooms. Housing and Residence Life staff will manage check-in, keys, and front door access. Student Orientation Coordinators will provide directions. Hundreds of other university staff will be on hand to welcome and assist you.

Before you come to campus on Move-In Day, be prepared. Make sure your student brings the following items with you:

- Color-coded move-in pass with assigned time to get in the unloading queue. Your move-in pass will function as your parking pass for move-in day. This will allow you to park in the Diboll parking complex.
- SplashCard ID to check into the residence hall, receive keys and coding for front door entry
- Tracking numbers to pick up any mailed or shipped items

To manage Move-in Day traffic, we assign each student a specific two-hour time slot to drive up to their hall and unload their belongings. Please refer to the Move-In Guide students will receive early in the summer for instructions, assigned drop-off times and locations, traffic directions to the appropriate unloading queue, and parking passes. You will not be able to enter the queue to your unloading area until your time slot begins. Please display the move-in pass mailed to you in your vehicle to enter the queue.

After you’ve dropped off your student’s belongings, you may display the parking pass and park in the Diboll parking complex or Rosen parking lot. A shuttle will run continuously from the Rosen lot to the PJ’s Coffee on Willow St. to return you to the center of campus.

You may come to campus outside of your move-in time slot if you want to handle other errands (package pick-up, bookstore, etc.) as long as you stay out of the move-in traffic queue and go directly to park in the Rosen Parking Lot.

The Tulane University Police department and campus partners will be on hand 8 a.m.–4 p.m. on Move-in Day. Students who arrive after 4 p.m. will need to check in at their area’s front desk and bring their belongings to their assigned residence hall room.

If you are arriving by taxi or car service, you can avoid the queue. Have your driver take you to the Car Service Drop Off Area at 6811 Freret Street, New Orleans, LA. Volunteers with carts will be there to help you unload.

ALTERNATE ARRIVAL TIMES

In order to provide an organized and unified experience for first-year students and their families on move-in day, a very limited number of early arrivals will be allowed to move in before their contracted move-in date. Students who will be allowed early access include new incoming international students who are participating in International Student Orientation, Orientation staff, move-in volunteers, and student-athletes participating in required activities for their fall sport. Students facing extreme circumstances who would like to request an early move in must complete the early move-in request form found on the Housing and Residence Life website by July 1, 2017. Most requests will not be approved, so please plan to arrive on August 25, 2017.

Students will only be able to access their Fall 2017 room assignment on or after their approved date and time, even if they are just dropping off belongings. Early move-in requests will not be granted at residence hall front desks unless the student has been approved to move in early in advance. Once a student has received access to their room they are considered to be checked-in to the room.

PLANING FOR YOUR STUDENT’S TRAVEL BACK AND FORTH TO CAMPUS

Before booking non-refundable travel for your student’s return flights home for winter and summer break, keep your student’s course registration, exam schedule, and the residence hall policies in mind.

We strongly recommend that you wait to book December and May flights until after the last day to add courses, September 8, 2017 for fall semester and January 26, 2018 for spring semester. Also consult with your student about their final exam schedule before booking flights. The final exam schedules for each semester are posted on the website of the Office of the Registrar. Professors also list final exam dates and times in the course syllabus.

Students living in the residence halls must follow the policy in the Housing Agreement:

For the fall 2017 semester, rooms . . . must be vacated by NOON on Wednesday, December 20, 2017 or 24 hours after the Resident’s last exam, whichever occurs first, unless otherwise specified by the Housing and Residence Life Office (“HRL” or “University Housing”). For the spring 2018 semester, rooms may be occupied at 9 a.m. on Sunday, January 14, and must be vacated by NOON on Sunday, May 13, 2018 or 24 hours after the Resident’s last exam, whichever occurs first, unless otherwise specified by HRL. The residence halls are closed during the winter break. Residents desiring to remain in residence during the winter break and live in Willow Hall and Aron Residences may seek an exception. Residents approved to stay over winter break may be charged for the additional nights.

END OF THE YEAR MOVE-OUT

To help students plan for moving out of the residence halls at the end of spring semester, our Mail Services department communicates procedures offered by our campus business partner, FedExOffice, and recommended local storage companies for students to use. Students will receive detailed information by email in April. We’ll also hold a Move-Out, Shipping, and Summer Storage webinar for parents who would like to learn more about the procedures and options. Register at http://tulane.it/MoveOutSummerStorage.

Newcomb-Tulane College is the undergraduate college of Tulane University. All full-time undergraduate students are a part of Newcomb-Tulane College from orientation through graduation and receive their degree from Newcomb-Tulane College. The college is comprised of a variety of units, departments, and offices that work collaboratively to guide students through their undergraduate career, including Academic Advising, Honors, Study Abroad, and the new Center for Academic Equity (see the separate entries in this section for more detail). The Newcomb-Tulane College Dean’s Office and other administrative units are housed in Cudd Hall, the college’s hub on the academic quad. In 2018, Musser Hall will open next door to Cudd, bringing academic, career, and success services together under one roof. The college offers funding opportunities for student research, projects, travel, and internships, as well as a variety of engaging co-curricular programs including the Witmeyer Dean’s Colloquium alumni lecture and the Lagniappe concert series.

ACADEMIC SCHOOLS

Academic departments (theatre, political science, biomedical engineering) are each housed in one of the five undergraduate schools.

Academic advisors are here to help students during this transition to develop their academic interests and to locate resources they need to succeed. We encourage parents and families to keep open lines of communication to students as well, engaging in conversation about their interests, what they are learning, and new experiences they might wish to share. We all want to work together to help students make good decisions and grow as individuals. For more information, parents can consult the Academic Advising Center Family Guide, http://tulane.edu/advising/upload/Family-Guide.pdf, or the Parents section on our webpage, http://tulane.edu/advising/parents/parents.cfm.
Career Coaches are available to assist students in the internship and job search process, career plan and major selection, and help with Graduate and Professional School application. Services include resume and cover letter development, interviewing and networking skills practice, one-on-one appointments, and employer-related events. A Career Development Class is also available for first year through senior year students designed specifically for each classification. If your student needs assistance in navigating their interests or career options, this is a great place for them to find guidance and support.

Newcomb/Tulane College opened the Center for Academic Equity in November of 2016 as a center for academic advocacy and enrichment for underrepresented students. The Center fosters the academic excellence of first-generation, Posse, College Track, international, and LGBTQ students, as well as students with physical challenges and all students of color. The Center for Academic Equity provides a much-needed network of support to ease what can be a difficult transition to the demands of college. The Center connects students with academic advisors and tutors, assists students in navigating complex issues, keeps in touch with the students’ academic advisors, provides grants, fellowships, and scholarships, and works directly with success coaches.

A part of the Division of Student Affairs and Student Resources & Support Services, the Goldman Center for Student Accessibility promotes access for each and every member of the Tulane community. We seek to eliminate impediments, ensure accommodations, and advocate inclusivity. We recognize that a community rich in diversity acknowledges that great minds think differently. The Goldman Center invites you to meet with our staff to discuss any potential barriers to our academic environment or need for accommodations. Because no two students are alike, our staff members work collaboratively with students to develop an individualized plan which allows for an equal opportunity for success. To ensure that accommodation needs are assessed and implemented in a timely manner, we recommend that new students make contact with The Goldman Center prior to arriving on campus.

The Honors Program at Tulane offers academically gifted and intellectually curious students of all academic majors unique opportunities for immersion in multi-disciplinary scholarship. The Program focuses on all aspects of the undergraduate experience—curricular, residential, and co-curricular—to create a sense of community among this academically ambitious cohort. All students invited by the Office of Admission to join the Honors Program accept the offer by enrolling in one designated Fall semester course. To maintain affiliation with the Honors Program in the Spring semester, students must enroll in one designated Spring semester course and maintain the minimum GPA requirement from the first year until graduation. Throughout students’ academic careers, the Honors Program supports scholarly engagement in a number of ways, such as through the residential learning communities in Wall Residential College and Weatherhead Residence Hall, research opportunities and guidance from faculty mentors, and advising for nationally competitive scholarships and post-baccalaureate opportunities. The Program’s activities of the first three years prepare students for the Senior Honors Thesis, the preeminent form of undergraduate scholarship at Tulane and the culminating achievement for students in the Honors Program.

TULANE PARENTS HILARY AND PETER BLUM RECOGNIZED THE BENEFITS OF SUCCESS COACHING FOR THEIR SON AND HELPED CREATE THE PEER EDUCATION PROGRAM AT THE TULANE SUCCESS CENTER.

“My husband and I felt it was important to start a program that catered to students, both academically and socially, who were struggling and could not find a consistent channel/avenue to fulfill this need. The Success Center is structured to help students excel in all areas that may be causing them frustration, not limited solely to academic issues.”
The Office of International Students and Scholars (OISS) provides leadership in the internationalization of the university by supporting the Tulane international community, serving as international educators, and facilitating cross-cultural interaction. OISS offers quality programs and services and ensures Tulane’s compliance with federal and state immigration regulations. Our department plays a vital role in providing support to international students, faculty, staff, and scholars by helping them acculturate, protecting their well-being, contributing to the achievement of their goals, and allowing the opportunity for them to have the best experience possible at Tulane and in New Orleans. Our strong belief is that a vibrant international community enriches Tulane University and the New Orleans community and is an essential component to understanding our role within the global community.

UNDERGRADUATE ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

TULANE.EDU/COLLEGE/TIDES
201 ROBERT C. CUDD HALL
(504) 865-5679

Undergraduate Academic Programs supports the development of Newcomb-Tulane College students through intellectual and academic opportunities that foster faculty and student engagement inside and outside the classroom. Some of our hallmark programs for first-year students include:

- Tulane Reading Project, a shared intellectual experience for the entering first-year class through the reading and discussion of a selected book, highlighted by the Kylene and Bradley Beers Keynote Lecture;
- TIDES (Tulane InterDisciplinary Experience Seminars) is Tulane’s first-year seminar program. TIDES courses introduce first-year students to some of Tulane’s most distinguished faculty and fellow students with similar interests. TIDES courses feature guest speakers, field trips, and other unique learning opportunities.
- Residential Faculty Mentors (RFMs) are Tulane professors who are partnered with residence halls and host co-curricular experiences for students that facilitate learning and holistic student growth through faculty “lobby hours” and community programming.

“Our daughter Devin’s semester abroad in Amsterdam was a truly transformative experience for her. She has always enjoyed travel, but spending several months studying abroad allowed her to become fully immersed in the culture and more confident in her ability to be successful in different environments. We were very pleased to be able to help other students participate in these programs and enjoy their many benefits.”

STUDENT HEALTH AND WELLNESS ACCESS

Campus Health provides a variety of comprehensive medical, mental health, and health promotion services to Tulane students. The annual Student Health and Wellness Fee is automatically assessed each semester to most full-time undergraduate, graduate and professional students to support the operations of Campus Health. The fee offers students access to services provided or sponsored by The Health Center for Student Care, CAPS for Counseling Services, The Well for Health Promotion, and the Campus Health Pharmacy.

Students who have not paid the fee but would like access to Campus Health services will be charged at the time of service. The fee is not health insurance and does not replace health insurance coverage.

Service Charges

Services that incur additional charges may include the following: laboratory tests, injections, medical procedures, physical examinations (form/document physicals), medications, medical supplies, Appointment No Show, and care received outside of Campus Health.

Payment for these services is expected at the time of service. Campus Health accepts payment for services by credit card, the Tulane-sponsored Student Health Insurance Plan (SHIP), Splash/Debit cards, and Accounts Receivable. We will bill the student’s account for any unpaid charges.

Campus Health is currently evaluating the option to bill third party insurance for physical health visits and services at The Health Center in the 2017–2018 academic year. Watch our website for updates about this important communication.

Student Health Insurance Plan (SHIP)

All full-time Tulane students are required to carry health insurance equal to or greater than University requirements as posted online at campushealth.tulane.edu. Full-time students must enroll in the Tulane-sponsored Student Health Insurance Plan (SHIP) or waive SHIP by providing proof of comparable coverage.

While we recommend that Tulane students enroll in the Student Health Insurance Plan (SHIP), we understand that some students will prefer to waive enrollment in favor of alternative coverage. To waive, you must demonstrate equivalent or better coverage using our online insurance verification tool.

Some out-of-state and international health insurance plans may lack coverage in the New Orleans area. SHIP ensures access to providers at The Health Center on campus as well as a wealth of providers in New Orleans, including the city’s major hospitals and a wide array of specialists. SHIP also covers students when they travel, so they’re covered at home and abroad.

Students will be notified by their Tulane email when Open Enrollment becomes available. During open enrollment, students must either enroll in the SHIP or submit proof of comparable coverage online at campushealth.tulane.edu.

Health Insurance Compliance Deadline – September 8, 2017

Students who do not enroll or complete the online waiver by the posted deadlines will be automatically enrolled in SHIP. The insurance premium will be billed through Accounts Receivable.
THE HEALTH CENTER FOR STUDENT CARE

UPTOWN CAMPUS: BUILDING 92
(504) 865-5255
DOWNTOWN CAMPUS: 127 ELK PLACE, ROOM 261
(504) 988-6929

The Health Center is staffed by board-certified doctors and nurse practitioners who provide high-quality, comprehensive medical care for students during their time at Tulane University. Our primary care clinics deliver routine medical services as well as evaluation and treatment of acute and chronic medical illnesses. Our preventive health clinic includes women’s and men’s health, nutrition, allergy shots, and immunizations.

Immunizations

Louisiana state law requires all students entering college in Louisiana to provide documentation of the following immunizations: Measles, Mumps, Rubella Vaccine (MMR), Tetanus-Diphtheria-Pertussis Vaccine (Tdap), and the Meningococcal or Meningitis Vaccine. Additionally, all student must complete Tuberculosis (TB) Screening. The Health Center offers all the listed immunizations and the TB skin test. Immunization compliance forms are available on the Campus Health website. Students must use our paperless system to enter dates of vaccines and upload their forms for verification through the Patient Portal online at campushhealth.tulane.edu.

Club & Intramural Sports
Club and Intramural Sports offer a wide range of opportunities for students to participate in individual or team sports. Club Sports tend to attract students with competitive experience in a sport or a desire to learn and compete in a new sport. Clubs receive funding and may travel to compete in local, regional or national events. Intramural Sports (IMs) provide a variety of team and individual competitions each semester. Leagues are made up of Tulane Students and are a great way for students to meet new people and get a fun workout at the same time. Many residence hall floors and fraternities participate to build relationships while competing.

Group Fitness & Personal Training
The Reily Student Recreation Center offers more than 60 free group exercise classes each week. Powered by high-energy music, challenging exercises, and motivated instructors, group classes are designed to make fitness goals easily attainable by providing a fun and energizing workout. The personal training program offers many options and packages with various fee scales for students who need new workout ideas, inspiration, or extra motivation.

Outdoor Adventures
Students can venture out of the city, explore the Gulf South region and discover new skills. Outdoor Adventures offers a variety of trips to interest all students. Gear rental is also available to students who are ready to hit the trails and plan their own adventure. Want to give your student a great gift? Consider booking one of the fall or spring break trips as a surprise!

Informal Rec
Students frequently opt to guide their own recreational and fitness activities. The Reily Student Recreation Center offers an indoor track, five basketball courts, a 7,000 sq ft weight room, a functional fitness gym, a cycling studio, an indoor Olympic sized pool, abundant cardio equipment, and multi-purpose studio spaces. Other recreational areas such as our game room, outdoor pool, and sundeck provide a space for students to meet, relax, and unwind. All of this is available at all times the Reily Center is open and at no additional cost to students.

Each residential community has a Resident Director, a master’s level professional, and Resident Advisors (RAs) who provide guidance and support for each student during this transition to their new life at Tulane. As a member of the residential community, it is important for each student to understand the Community Living Standards prior to arriving on campus. These standards, as well as detailed information and quick tips about what to bring, renter’s insurance, and much more can be found on the housing website: housing.tulane.edu.

The Lavin-Bernick Center for University Life supports the more than 200 recognized student organizations on campus by offering training to student leaders, support for programming, and advice for the direction of the group. By joining one of the many student organizations on campus, new students will be instantly connected to a peer group with common interests. This kind of connection to peers and the university is important in the transition to college life. We hope that students will make the most of their college career by getting involved on campus and in the community. Please encourage your student to attend the Student Activities Expo from 5–7 pm on Thursday, August 31, 2017 on the LBC Quad. Students will be able to sign up to receive information from the more than 200 clubs, recreational sports teams, and more! Additional information can be found by visiting studentprograms.tulane.edu.
The Office of New Student & Leadership Programs facilitates the growth and development of students from orientation through graduation. With the assistance of close to 150 student leaders, the office coordinates orientation and transition programs for all new, undergraduate students and works closely with the Office of International Students and Scholars in supporting incoming international students. The office sends out monthly ‘Navigator’ e-newsletters with upcoming events and important information to help keep students on track throughout their first year. Additionally, the staff empowers students to develop leadership capacity and become engaged and responsible members of the Tulane University community. Student Government and leadership programs including the LeaderShape Institute and the Crest Awards fall under this office. Encourage your student to check out the MUST DO AT TU and complete many of the Tulane Bucket List items!

STUDENT RESOURCES & SUPPORT SERVICES (SRSS)

SRSS encompasses the non-clinical student support functions at Tulane. The Office of Case Management & Victim Support Services, the Office of Student Conduct, and the Goldman Center for Student Accessibility all work collaboratively to ensure that students are able to negotiate the challenges that college life presents. We rely on the community to help identify students who may be struggling or acting in ways that are incongruent with our behavioral expectations. We encourage all students, faculty, staff, parents, and external constituents to report concerning behavior using our online form: https://tulane.edu/concerns. We look forward to partnering with you to support your student while they are attending Tulane.

We are committed to helping all Tulane students successfully navigate issues that may arise so they can have a successful Tulane experience. CONDUCT@TULANE.EDU

The Office of Student Conduct manages all non-academic misconduct allegations for Tulane students. The goal of the student conduct process is to educate students about appropriate behavior and decision-making while fostering a safe and healthy community in which academic success can occur. We encourage parents to discuss responsible decision-making with students and review Tulane’s expectations for its students, as set forth in the Code of Student Conduct, before they arrive in August.

The Office of Student Conduct hopes that students will keep their parents informed about their lives at Tulane. Federal law, however, prevents the university from notifying parents of conduct violations except when a student under the age of 21 has been found responsible for alcohol or drug use or in cases where the student poses a threat to the health and safety of himself or others. Before we can speak with you about your student’s conduct record, we will need to confirm that your student has a signed FERPA waiver on file. FERPA waivers are available at http://registrar.tulane.edu/forms/FERPA_Waiver.pdf.

At Tulane University, we understand that it is of vital importance that the greatest diversity of ideas, cultures, perspectives, and modes of inquiry be brought to bear on the issues and ideas of our day. As such, the Office of Multicultural Affairs (OMA), the Office for Gender and Sexual Diversity (OGSD), and Religious Life, known collectively as The O, supports a campus environment characterized by a multiplicity of viewpoints, experiences, and cultures. OMA and OGSD provide students of color, lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, queer, questioning, and allied students with advocacy services, mentoring, personal support, and educational, cultural, and social programming that facilitate their adjustment to the university and ability to thrive thereafter. The O also serves as a liaison to Tulane’s religious communities, which offer student opportunities to engage in on-campus spiritual pursuits through worship and community, increase campus-wide religious awareness and understanding, and receive religious counseling. Links to all the different religious organizations are at https://www2.tulane.edu/studentaffairs/intercultural/religious-life. It is our mission to foster an open and vibrant learning environment that welcomes, respects, and appreciates the histories, traditions, and cultures of traditionally under-represented student populations. If you have any questions about multicultural life and or gender and sexual diversity at Tulane University, please call our office or email OMA at oma@tulane.edu or OGSD at ogsd@tulane.edu.
The TUPD mission is to provide leadership, education, and services consistent with the values of the university and supportive of the community’s effort to ensure a safe and secure environment. We are all responsible to ensure our valuables are secure and that crime and suspicious incidents are reported in a timely manner. It is imperative that we work together to identify and resolve problems that lead to crime or the fear of crime. We are proud of our certified police officers and support staff. Each is dedicated to providing a campus where individuals can feel safe in their pursuit of education, research, employment, and recreation.

TUPD offers a walking safety escort to students who might need to cross campus at night or on their own. Additionally, the university has initiated a virtual safety escort, Rave Guardian. EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS AND RESPONSE

EMERGENCY.TULANE.EDU

The Office of Emergency Response oversees the comprehensive “all-hazards/threats” emergency and disaster management planning efforts. Tulane University has a strong all-hazards response plan and is known throughout the world as a leader in the area of emergency preparedness. This plan can be found at https://tulane.edu/emergency/preparedness. The best way to deal with emergencies is to plan for them, so we urge parents to help students think through contingencies and response plans in advance.

For the particular possibility of severe weather threats that would necessitate a campus closure and evacuation, Tulane required students to file elements of their planning with two departments:

- Housing and Residence Life: Students need to submit an anticipated location they will use if an evacuation is ordered and detailed emergency contact information at https://tulane.edu/emergency/preparedness.

- Emergency Response: All students must file an Emergency Evacuation Plan online at https://tulane.edu/emergency/preparedness, including name, permanent home address, home phone, personal cell phone number, email and emergency contact’s name, cell number, and email address. They will also need to specify their planned evacuation destination and method of transportation. More details about evacuation planning are available at https://tulane.edu/emergency/preparedness.

However, we also encourage your student to add you as an authorized user of the account so that you can view the bill and make payments. Your student must initiate your authorized user access; but once granted access, you can view the bill and make payments independent of your student. Please remember that a FERPA release is necessary for parents to have financial conversations with our office about the account. Please visit the web for resources, frequently asked questions, important deadlines, to set up your online account, and to find the FERPA release form.
